

The blue circle shows a student who participates often while not receiving little direct attention from the teacher

The red circles show students who do not participate often though receiving large amounts of attention from the teacher